

Petroplan expands its African offering

Mozambique, 7 March 2016 – Petroplan is delighted to announce its expansion into Mozambique, having received its official business license earlier this month.

The Maputo-based team, which is working with one of sub-Saharan Africa's leading oil and gas companies, will be supported by existing Petroplan offices in London, Houston, Calgary, Dubai and South Africa. Petroplan will be building on this global capability, as well use its 40 years of experience in oil, gas and energy recruitment, to expand its client base in the upstream, downstream and EPC sectors in sub-Saharan Africa.

Petroplan provides highly skilled professionals to work within the oil, gas and energy industry and operates across six continents. Petroplan's ability to offer a tailored service is enhanced by the expertise on the ground in each of their offices worldwide. Petroplan understands how vital it is to provide staff in their offices with local knowledge and who understand the industry challenges in each of their territories.

Andrew Speers, CEO of Petroplan said, "We are very excited about the new office opening in Mozambique, which will help us to better service our existing and new clients in sub-Saharan Africa. We are very confident about our future in the region and we look forward to expanding our business there."
