

A Recent acquisition by Sanitech, a division of Waco Africa, has increased its ability to meet customer needs as well as expand its footprint further into Africa.

Rent-A-Toilet's Namibian operations were integrated into Sanitech as from October 2017. This acquisition allows Rent-A-Toilet great opportunities for both employees and customers, while increasing Sanitech's footprint into Namibia.

Sanitech, known as Kwikform in Namibia, has made in-roads into various industries since opening an office in 2016.

"We saw the opportunity to roll out more services to more customers in Namibia and decided that purchasing Rent-A-Toilet would assist in expanding our product and services," says Sanitech Managing Director Robert Erasmus. "We are now able to service not only Windhoek, Walvis Bay, Swakopmund but also as far as Tsumeb and Ondangwa."

Sanitech is a leading provider of cleaning and hygiene services, operating in Sub-Saharan Africa. It prides itself on being the continent's leader in toilet hire and technology, providing superior products and excellent customer service. Sanitech is a division of Waco Africa, a Level 3 BEE contributor.
